

User Stories

- As a project manager, I want to be able to associate short descriptions to different colors so that I can color code each task and thus simplify task browsing.
- As a project manager, I want to be able to create user stories to associate tasks to them, so that I have a starting point for my projects.